2. The following instructions are issued for guidance:—

The process of estimating should be to work backwards and forwards from the month in which the funds are lowest. Such a figure should be set down for the opening balance of that month as will suffice with its receipts to meet its payments and leave a working balance for the next month. The opening balance for the preceding month should then be worked out by adding or deducting, as the case may be, its net average transactions (calculated over three years) from the figure originally selected as basis. The opening balance of the next preceding month should be worked out in the same way, substituting as the base figure the opening balance of the succeeding months and similarly for all other preceding months. The opening balance of succeeding months should be calculated in the same way but the base figure will be the opening balance of the preceding month. In working out the net transactions of each month, the figures relating to cash remittances should be excluded.

3. It is requested that a return for the period from 1st May to 30th November 1904 may be submitted so as to reach this office on or before the 25th proximo.
